Join an exciting new startup at the heart of Southern California Communications Valley (San Diego). Be part of the team developing the next generation of disruptive technologies in mobile communications field, and rip the benefits of joining at the start.

nCore Communications is developing an exciting new technology which will revolutionize the mobile communications landscape. We are looking for highly motivated and talented software engineers who are not scared of pushing the boundaries. In return, we'll promise you an exiting ride with good short and long term material rewards.

Job Id	SD-UE-510201
Job Title	Senior Engineer – Android SW engineer
Post Date	10/20/2015
Company-Division	nCore Communications-San Diego
Job Area	Engineering - Software
Location	USA-San Diego
Job Function	As an Android Software Development Engineer you will be responsible for design, development, optimization and productize nCore App, Voice and Video agents on Android mobile platforms.
Responsibilities	Strong C and C++ programming and debugging skills Experience in Android multimedia Framework
Preferred skills:	- Android App development experience using a framework like Eclipse - Experience with the Android 5.0 API is desired - Knowledge of the USIM Telephony API is a big plus - 2-3 year experience will be ideal 3+ years' experience in design and development of mobile applications on Android platforms. - Knowledge of Linux Operating system - Hands on experience on C or C++, Java or JavaScript - Good Analytical and Debugging Skills. - Experience in Owning, executing and Delivering on features, releases and products. - Good communication and organizational skills
Education	Required: Bachelor's, Computer Engineering and/or Computer 1-2 years of experience in Android multimedia frameworks (Voice & video domain).
Keywords	Software Engineer, Android, Linux, Java